

The Records of the Oregon Bird Records Committee

January 2019

The Oregon Bird Records Committee (OBRC) was organized in 1978 to collect, review, and maintain records on rare birds found in Oregon. The OBRC became a Committee of the Oregon Birding Association (OBA) (formerly Oregon Field Ornithologists) in 1980.

The Committee

The OBRC consists of 9 members and up to 5 alternates from throughout Oregon. Members and alternates are elected by their peers. Members serve staggered 3-year terms and alternates serve 1-year terms. The OBRC votes on most records electronically or at an annual meeting.

Record Numbering System

The OBRC uses the taxonomy and nomenclature of the American Ornithologists' Society's 1998 Check-List (as supplemented).

Each record considered by the OBRC is assigned a unique record number. The first 4 digits represent the official four-letter banding code for the species, followed by 2 digits for the year in which the record was obtained; the last 2 digits indicate the consecutive number of the record for that species in the order in which it was received by the OBRC Secretary.

Records Accepted by the OBRC are denoted with an A, followed by the consecutive number of accepted records for that species. Records Not Accepted are denoted by an N and the respective consecutive number. The current numbering system was adopted by the OBRC in July 2018 to replace the old system, which used the now-obsolete AOU number for each species instead of the banding code. Since many OBRC records are referred to by their old number in previous publications, the old number is listed in parentheses at the end of each record for reference purposes.

Information for each record includes the location where the record was obtained, the date(s), the plumage, gender or age of the bird when appropriate, and abbreviations for persons submitting the record. Other remarks have been added as appropriate. A list of contributors is presented at the end.

The Official Oregon State List now stands at 537 species.

WHOS-91-01 (N1) Lower Klamath NWR, Klamath Co., 1 bird from 7 December 1991-22 February 1992. The bird was accepted as properly identified but the details were not sufficient enough to prove that the bird was actually in Oregon. (Old number: 179-91-01)

The origin of this bird was discussed but it was not the reason this record was not accepted. (Old number: 133-86-03)

AMBD-02-05 (N3) Baskett Slough NWR, Polk Co., 1 bird observed 13-14 July 2002. 15-year-old record did not rule out other species or possible hybrids. (Old number: 133-02-05)

Common Pochard Anas ferina

- GYRF-95-21 (N5) Baskett Slough NWR, Polk Co., 1 dark bird on 9 November 1995. Details of this sighting were of a flying bird and were based more on size and coloration than any other field point. - LEFL-85-27 (N6) Thornton Creek, Lincoln Co., 1 bird seen 13 August 1985. This bird was in heavy molt and gave only one call that was inconclusive. Record not accepted as a silent bird in this plumage would be extremely difficult to correctly identify to species. (Old number: 467-85-27)
- LEFL-87-28 (N7) Thornton Creek, Lincoln Co., 1 bird seen 1 September 1987. This bird also showed signs of molt and was silent. Hammond's Flycatcher regularly molts prior to migration but Least Flycatchers do not molt until they reach their wintering areas. Record not accepted as a silent bird in molt would be extremely difficult to correctly identify to species. (Old number: 467-87-28)
- LEFL-90-29 (N8) Thornton Creek, Lincoln Co., 1 bird observed 24 August 1990. The plumage description provided was not complete enough to identify a Least Flycatcher and eliminate other Empidonax species. A persistently calling bird in late August is highly unusual and raised questions on what was actually heard. There were enough questions for the Committee to not accept the record. (Old number: 467-90-29)
- LEFL-97-36 (N9) West of Burns Junction, Malheur Co., 1 adult bird 19-20 June 1997. Not accepted as details did not eliminate other species of Empidonax flycatchers. (Old number 467-97-36)
- LEFL-98-33 (N10) Fields, Harney Co., 1 bird on 18 May 1998. Description of the bird was brief and not complete enough to entirely eliminate other Empidonax flycatchers. (Old number: 467-98-33)

- EAPH-02-10 (N3) Malone Springs, Klamath Co., 1 bird on 6 June 2002. Details did not completely rule out other similar species. Observer did not see distinctive tail-pumping behavior. (Old number: 456-02-10)
- EAPH-08-14 (N4) P Ranch, Harney Co., 1 bird on 31 August 2008. Poor, dark photo was inconclusive as to species. Details did not rule out similar flycatchers. (Old number: 456-08-14)

- Plumbeous Vireo Vireo plumbeus
PLVI-99-01 (N1) Stukel Mountain, Klamath Co., 1 bird on 19 June 1999. This species is notoriously difficult to separate from Cassin's Vireo. This report did not mention key field points that would have identified it as a Plumbeous Vireo. (Old number: 629.1-99-01)
- PLVI-01-02 (N2) Indian Ford Creek, Deschutes Co., 1 bird on 25 May 2001. Not accepted as details did not adequately eliminated Cassin's Vireo. (Old number: 629.1-01-02)
- PLVI-05-07 (N3) Portland, Multnomah Co., 21 April 2005. The description did fit a Plumbeous Vireo, but did not entirely rule out a very pale Cassin's. More detail was needed to accept this very early migrant bird. (Old number: 629.1-05-07)
- PLVI-14-11 (N4) McCully Creek, Wallowa Co., 1 bird on 25 May 2014. Details and photo did not rule out very similar faded Cassin's Vireo. (Old number: 629.1-14-11)

MISCELLANEOUS SPECIES

Several species appear on the official checklist of Oregon birds, and the OBRC lists them on the Review List, but the OBRC has not reviewed these reports:

California Condor Gymnogyps californianus.

Gabrielson and Jewett (1940, Birds of Oregon, Oregon State College, Corvallis, pages 180-181) report that California Condors were first recorded in Oregon by Lewis and Clark, but that there were no reliable accounts after 1904.

Sharp-tailed Grouse Tympanuchus phasianellus.

Once widespread in eastern Oregon, Sharp-tailed Grouse has not been reliably reported since 1969. Gabrielson and Jewett (above, page 217), foretold its extirpation: "... continual persecution and shooting, combined with human encroachment on its alternate grounds, have so reduced it in numbers that its future as an Oregon bird is precarious."
